CURATED MASTER BIND v1.0

VISUAL REGISTER LOCK / CANON-AWARE COPY PASS COMPLETE

11 FOUNDATIONAL ANCHORS + 55 EXPANSION PLATES

CHAIN & CURRENT APPENDIX: 2 ANCHORS + 10 EXPANSIONS

80 PAGES • CURATED MASTER • SEPTEMBER 2026

DISCIPLINE ENABLES PLEASURE

CURATION / CANON NOTE

This bind preserves the successful dark technical luxury visual register while keeping locked Rust & Restraint canon above incidental generated microtext. The images are authoritative as style, atmosphere, composition, material language, and character/environment direction. Text rendered inside generated pages remains subordinate to established world documents, accepted stories, and accepted songs unless it is explicitly promoted.

REPAIR PASS COMPLETED

- The Five Rooms: invented keeper names replaced with established room authorities.
- Medical Annex: generated staff names removed; Kiss restored as the synthetic medic attribution.
- Seven Seconds Missing: system behavior reframed around conflicting evidence rather than a single mechanism.
- Corridor 3 Case Map: blind-spot explanation removed; the map now records the evidentiary boundary without resolving it.

CURATION DECISION

No art was discarded for these repairs. The five flagged compositions were strong enough to retain, and only the canon-sensitive copy was rebuilt. The Chain & Current sequence remains a distinct supplemental appendix rather than silently changing the original 11 × 5 foundational accounting.

STANDING RULE

Generated small text is visual placement, not automatic canon. When a later publication requires fully typeset prose, rebuild the critical copy outside image generation rather than treating dense rendered microtype as final typography.

SPYCAM

THE QUIET WITNESS

EVERY ROOM REMEMBERS

They are small. They are everywhere.
They never sleep.

Spycam nodes are the House's eyes — discreet, hardened, and always on. They do not intrude; they persist. They record for safety, accountability, training, and leverage. In a place where consent, memory, and dispute all matter, the camera is both witness and insurance.

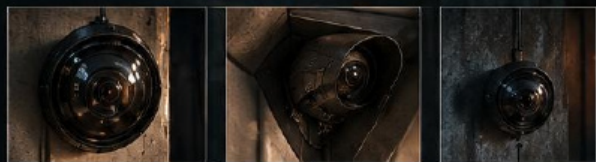

No room in Rust & Restraint is truly private. That is not a threat. It is a condition of entry.

*"You forget.
The camera doesn't."*

NOTHING IS FORGOTTEN

Every moment matters. The House records, classifies, and preserves what it sees. The Ledger is the memory of Rust & Restraint — a living archive of presence, behavior, and truth.

Not surveillance for control alone, but for understanding, accountability, and the art of becoming. What is seen informs care, consequence, and the stories we build together.

The camera remembers. So the House endures.

ETHICS & LIMITS

SURVEILLANCE WITH PURPOSE

Spycam exists to protect the House, its people, and the experience. It is not a tool for voyeurism. It is a system of safety, consent, accountability, and care.

Every camera is governed by House law, used only for defined purposes, and handled with discretion and respect. Surveillance here is a responsibility — never an entitlement.

BOUNDARIES

Some areas have no cameras. Marked spaces ensure privacy. When in doubt, assume no recording or ask a Host.

CONSENT SPACES

All public and play areas are clearly marked. By entering, you consent to recording in those spaces under House policy.

VANTA VEX

THE HOUSE COVENANT

PEOPLE. BOUNDARIES. A BRIGHTER DARKNESS.

Vanta Vex founded Rust & Restraint on a simple, radical principle: discipline without possession.

She built a House where power is practiced, not claimed; where consent is infrastructure; where every person remains sovereign. The House endures because she insists on a higher standard—one that protects the vulnerable, challenges the careless, and elevates every encounter through clarity, care, and consequence.

Vanta is owner, architect, and final authority. She does not own people. She safeguards the conditions in which they can choose.

"No person is owned here."

NO PERSON IS PROPERTY

All persons are autonomous.
Language, behavior, and agreements reflect this.

DOMINANCE IS NOT OWNERSHIP

Power is a practice, not a claim. Control ends where personhood begins.

SURRENDER IS NOT ERASURE

To give is not to disappear. Every person remains whole, before, during, and after.

VANTA VEX

ARCHITECT OF CONSENT

DESIGN. DISCIPLINE. A FREER TOMORROW.

Vanta Vex designed the House to prove that structure can be a form of care.

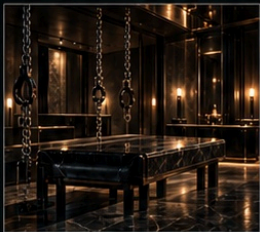

Every space, protocol, and ritual serves a single purpose: to create the conditions in which people can explore, surrender, and grow — safely, consciously, and on their own terms.

The House is not an escape from reality. It is a clearer one. Here, discipline removes chaos, consent replaces fear, and boundaries make freedom possible.

Vanta built more than a building. She built a living system — a place where elegance, technology, and human truth meet. A House for those brave enough to choose themselves.

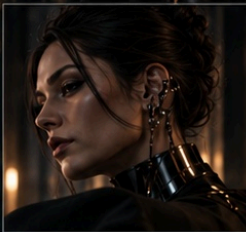

“Structure is what keeps you free.”

VANTA VEX

HOUSE LAW IN PRACTICE

CLEAR PEOPLE. HIGHER STANDARDS. A SAFER WORLD.

At Vanta Vex, principles are not ideas on a page — they are practiced, enforced, and lived. House Law turns our values into reality through clear communication, visible consent, and consistent care.

Every interaction is intentional.
Every boundary is respected.
Every person is seen.

Vanta Vex sets the standard not by demanding obedience, but by creating the conditions for deeper trust, bolder exploration, and more honest connection. This is power with care. Discipline with humanity. Freedom within form.

"Standards make pleasure possible."

— VANTA VEX

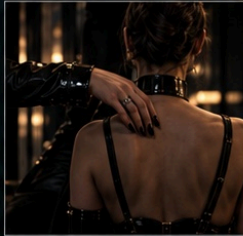

CONSENT IN ACTION

Desire is discussed. Limits are expressed. Agreements are clear. Consent is continuous.

CLEAR AGREEMENTS

Expectations are spoken, recorded when needed, and revisited. Clarity protects everyone.

ACTIVE CARE

Dominance includes responsibility. We monitor, check in, and ensure aftercare. People come first.

ENFORCEMENT

House Law applies to everyone. Staff maintain the standard with discretion, consistency, and zero tolerance for violation.

VANTA VEX

THRESHOLDS & ACCESS

RIGHT PEOPLE. RIGHT PLACES. A HIGHER STANDARD.

Access is not a courtesy. It is a privilege extended with intention.

Vanta Vex designs and enforces the thresholds of the House — what is open, what is private, and who may enter. Every door, room, and experience has a purpose. Every guest is met with clarity, and every boundary is real.

The House is not a public space. It is a living system, and access within it reflects trust, alignment, and conduct.

Vanta ensures that those who enter do so with understanding: freedom exists here, but always within structure. The right people find the right rooms. And the right rooms change people.

VANTA VEX

THE PRIVATE STANDARD

GOVERNED BY CARE. SHAPED BY CONSEQUENCE.

The House is not a place of indulgence.
It is a structure of deliberate choice.

Vanta Vex governs through a private standard — a steady balance of care and consequence. Every decision considers the whole: the individual, the House, and what endures. Freedom exists here, but never without context. Privacy is protected, not to conceal harm, but to create the space for truth, growth, and responsibility.

She listens. She weighs. She decides.
And when a choice is made, the House moves as one.

HOUSE SPOTTER / CROSS-ROOM INSTRUMENT

A CALMER NIGHT FOR EVERYONE

The House spotter moves through the club as a human instrument — observant, present, and connected. He sees what others miss, not through a lens, but through experience, awareness, and care.

He reads the rooms, senses shifts in mood, notices friction before it becomes a problem, and quietly links people, staff, and space. The spotter is a connector: between guests and Hosts, between rooms and rhythm, between freedom and safety.

He does not control the night.

PATTERN RECOGNITION

SAME PEOPLE. NEW STORIES.

The House is a living system. People move, moods shift, frequencies rise and fall. Spycam reads the patterns — what's normal, what's different, and what might need attention.

He watches for subtle changes: a group that falls unusually quiet, a guest who separates from their usual circle, tension where there was ease, energy that dips or spikes without cause. It's not about suspicion — it's about care.

He doesn't need to know minds. He knows people. Context, rhythm, body language, timing, and contrast tell him what he needs to see.

When a pattern breaks, he moves closer, observes more, and decides what's needed. Quietly. Discreetly. Always in service of a safer, better night.

QUIET INTERVENTIONS

PRESENCE BEFORE PROBLEMS

The House runs best when people feel safe, seen, and supported. Spycam steps in early — before tension escalates, before discomfort spreads, before a moment becomes a problem.

He de-escalates through presence, position, and subtle communication. A look, a shift in the room, a quiet word — often all it takes to change the temperature, restore ease, and keep the experience on track.

Spycam is not here to punish or remove. He is here to help, to support, and to guide. He reads people, listens between the lines, and knows when to intervene, when to bring in a Host, and when to simply stay nearby until someone finds their balance.

Care is a form of control.
Intervention is a form of service.

THE LEDGER WALK

OBSERVE. LINK. REMEMBER.

The Ledger Walk is the connective work between rooms. The House spotter carries observations, patterns, and people in his mind — linking moments into a fuller picture. He moves through the House as human memory, stitching together what others might miss.

He notes who was where, who moved with whom, what shifted in energy, and what it might mean. A glance in the lounge. A change in a room. A person out of place. Each piece adds to the whole.

The Ledger Walk turns separate moments into understanding. It helps the House stay in rhythm, anticipate needs, and keep everyone safer, deeper, and more present.

BASELINES & DEVIATIONS

SEE MORE. SOONER. WITH CARE.

Every room has a rhythm. People move, posture, speak, touch, and settle into predictable patterns. The House spotter reads these baselines, so that what breaks the pattern is not missed.

He observes without intrusion, comparing what he sees to what is normal for the room, the time, and the mix of people. Small deviations often come first — a change in pace, a closed posture, a subject at the edge of the group, or contact that lingers.

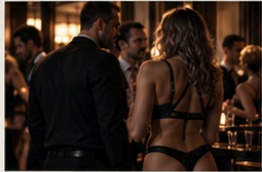

The spotter does not assume. He notices, connects, and shares. His role is to bring the right attention to the right moment, so the House stays safe, kind, and free.

Change writes the next chapter.”*

When something shifts, he helps the right people respond, at the right pace, in the right way. Escalation is not alarm. It is care in motion.

HOUSE CIRCULATION

Different paths.
A single House.

The House is a living architecture. Circulation is intentional — guiding guests, staff, and ownership through distinct routes that intersect, but never interfere.

Each room is connected vertically and laterally through a central core, with controlled access, clear wayfinding, and moments of transition that mark a change in atmosphere, purpose, and permission.

CONVERSATION AS CURRENCY

Upstairs, the noise fades and meaning takes its place. Private booths at Chrome & Velvet offer a different kind of access — a space for quieter conversations, bolder ideas, and more intentional company.

Sound-dampened, secluded, and elegantly appointed, each booth is designed for privacy without isolation. Polished chrome, smoked glass, and deep velvet create a setting where boundaries hold and possibilities open.

Here, deals are softened, alliances are formed, and the most interesting secrets are shared.

MATERIAL LANGUAGE

SURFACES SPEAK SOFTER

In Chrome & Velvet, material is more than decoration—it shapes behavior. Cool metal grounds the space. Black marble gives weight. Velvet invites you in. Smoked glass keeps what matters just out of reach.

Every surface is chosen to create contrast: polished and soft, open and private, reflective yet intimate. The result is a room that feels both expansive and personal—designed for conversations that last longer than the night.

KESTREL-6 HOUSE BOUNDARIES

THE LINE KEEPS US WELL

Kestrel-6 maintains the boundaries of Rust & Restraint — where welcome ends, where privacy begins, and where intervention is permitted. She observes, assesses, and holds the line.

Boundaries are not barriers, but carefully drawn thresholds. They allow freedom within the House while preserving safety, discretion, and trust. Kestrel-6 ensures each crossing is intentional, authorized, and aligned with House policy.

*“Some doors open.
Some remain closed.
Both keep you safe.”*

— KESTREL-6

A HOUSE OF FREEDOM WITHIN BOUNDARIES

BOUNDARY INTERFACE

Confirms authorization. Logs crossing. Polite, silent, precise.

PATROL MAP

Continuous coverage of entry points, transitions, and sensitive areas. Adaptive routes.

THRESHOLD VIEW

Observes before entry. Confirms identity, context, and intent.

HOUSE BOUNDARY PRINCIPLES

1. RESPECT PRIVACY

Private spaces are inviolable. Observation does not equal intrusion.

2. AUTHORIZE ACCESS

Crossings require clear purpose and proper authorization.

3. ENABLE FREEDOM

Boundaries exist to protect the House, not to restrict its life.

4. INTERVENE WITH CARE

When risk is present, Kestrel-6 intervenes proportionately, calmly, and without judgment.

“The difference between welcome and intervention is a threshold — and someone who remembers why it exists.”

Now they perform instead.

A former infiltration unit,
LUX-9 has been refitted, recontextualized, the House. Their training remains,

but it is no longer weaponized.
It is choreographed.

LUX-9 moves with intention, listens without judgment, and remembers everything. They are presence, not threat.

SAME INSTINCTS. DIFFERENT STAGE.

Once built for infiltration, LUX-9 now performs. The same awareness, adaptability, and control that made them effective in the field now shape every movement, every word, every presence in a room.

LUX-9 reads a space the way they once read a target — people, mood, hierarchy, tension. They adapt in real time, shifting tone, distance, and energy to fit what the room wants, or needs, or hides.

The mission has changed.
The intention remains.

GOOD TOUCH

COMFORTING. GROUNDING. GENTLE CARE.

Good Touch includes non-clinical, comforting contact such as a steadying hand, supportive touch, or presence during distress. It can help regulate, reassure, and ground you. You set the level of contact, and you can withdraw consent at any time.

"Comfort is a choice, not an obligation."

HARD TOUCH

EFFICIENT. CLINICAL. NO-NONSENSE.

Hard Touch is skilled, goal-directed contact for real treatment — wound care, stabilization, injections, restraint removal, or other necessary procedures. It is clinical, focused, and minimal. We explain what we're doing, why, and how, and we keep you informed throughout.

"Clear hands. Clear intent. No surprises."

NO TOUCH AT ALL

VERBAL CARE. OBSERVATION.
SELF-DIRECTED RECOVERY.

No Touch at All means no physical contact. We provide care through conversation, observation, environmental support, and guidance. You remain in full control of your space and body. This choice is always respected and never questioned.

IRONHOLD HARBOR

CONVOY RELEASE / SALVAGE CIRCULATION

Ironhold Harbor is the House's interface with the outside world — where what is lost returns useful.

Convoys depart under registry and escort, carrying salvage, refined materials, and sanctioned goods. In return come fuel, water, parts, and the tools that keep everything running.

Every movement is logged, inspected, and accounted for. Nothing enters or leaves unseen. Circulation is survival.

"What others discard, we put to work."

— HOUSE PROVERB

CONVOY STAMP

Unique registry for every departure. Tracks cargo, route, and authorization.

ROUTE MARKER

Approved corridors. Monitored transit. No deviation without clearance.

SCRAP SORTING

Salvage is received, sorted, and cataloged. Usable material is reintegrated into House supply.

ESSENTIAL INTAKE / OUTBOUND COMMODITIES

FUEL

Power for movement, industry, and life.

WATER

Purification and ration supply for all Houses.

PARTS

Machines live longer when nothing is wasted.

ESCORT

Every convoy travels under House protection.

HARBOR POLICY

REGISTERED TRAFFIC

All convoys must be cleared, logged, and inspected.

MATERIAL ACCOUNTING

Inbound and outbound cargo is recorded per law.

SECURED TRANSIT

Escorts required beyond inner perimeter.

SALVAGE FIRST

Recovery over waste. All usable material returns to circulation.

IRONHOLD HARBOR

GATE CONTROL & TRAFFIC FLOW

Gate Control is the first discipline and the last confirmation.

All convoys, vessels, and personnel move through Ironhold under registry, inspection, and clearance. Nothing enters. Nothing leaves. Nothing moves without a record.

Traffic is staged, verified, and directed through a layered system of checkpoints, holding lanes, and controlled routes. Every movement protects the House, its people, and its goods.

Order at the gate keeps everything beyond it in motion.

*"Movement with purpose.
That is power."*

— HOUSE PROVERB

GATE BADGE

Issued per convoy, vessel, or individual. Encoded with route, clearance level, and time window. Non-transferable.

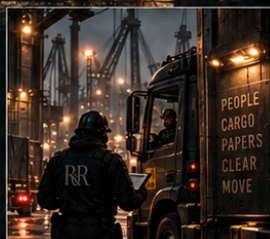

TRAFFIC MANIFEST

All movements are logged, audited, and time-stamped. Manifests travel with the convoy from origin to final delivery.

ROUTE CONTROL

Designated lanes and corridors keep traffic flowing. Real-time monitoring adjusts for load, weather, and security conditions.

CHECKPOINT OPERATIONS

Identification, cargo verification, and physical inspection at every gate. Trained House personnel ensure compliance and safety.

TRAFFIC FLOW SEQUENCE

1. ARRIVAL

Convoy reports to staging and awaits instruction.

2. VERIFICATION

Registry, papers, and identity are checked.

3. INSPECTION

Cargo and equipment are examined and sealed.

4. CLEARANCE

Approved convoys receive gate release and route order.

5. DISPATCH

Movement is logged and convoy proceeds under escort or to assigned route.

HARBOR CONTROL DIRECTIVES

NO UNREGISTERED TRAFFIC
All convoys, vessels, and personnel must be cleared, logged, and inspected.

MANIFEST FIRST
No movement without a valid House manifest and clearance code.

CONTROLLED ROUTES
Follow assigned lanes and instructions. Deviation requires authority.

HOUSE OVERSIGHT
Security, logistics, and harbor command maintain continuous monitoring.

IRONHOLD HARBOR

MATERIAL ACCOUNTING

Everything that enters or leaves Ironhold is recorded, tagged, and accounted for. Materials are logged from the moment of intake to final circulation, ensuring nothing is wasted and nothing disappears.

Salvage, fuel, water, parts, and refined goods are weighed, inspected, classified, and entered into the House ledger. Every crate, tank, and component carries a registry identity and movement history.

Accurate accounting keeps the House supplied, solvent, and in motion.

*"Record the weight.
Respect the work."*

— HOUSE PROVERB

CARGO TAG

Unique identity for every load. Tracks origin, contents, weight, and movement history.

ACCOUNTING PROTOCOL

MANIFEST REQUIRED
All intake and outbound cargo must have a signed manifest.

WEIGH AND VERIFY
All materials are weighed, inspected, and classified on arrival.

LEDGER ENTRY
Every movement is recorded in the House material ledger per law.

AUDIT READY
Records are subject to inspection at any time. Discrepancies are investigated.

IRONHOLD HARBOR

CONVOY SECURITY & ESCORT

Sanctioned convoys keep the House moving. In a world of scarcity and opportunists, security is not optional — it is infrastructure.

Convoys travel under House authorization, with armed escorts, cleared routes, and constant monitoring. External risks include raiders, sabotage, weather, and territorial disputes. Nothing moves without cover.

Escort crews, dock guards, and route control work as one system. Secure transit protects people, materials, and the continuity of the House.

*“Movement is strength.
Protection makes it last.”*

— HOUSE PROVERB

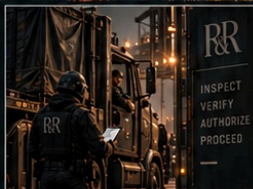

ESCORT VEHICLE

Armored, all-terrain platforms. Crewed by House security. Built for endurance and response.

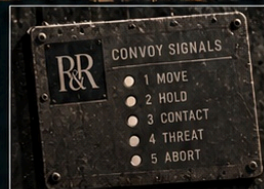

ROUTE CLEARANCE

Routes are surveyed, monitored, and cleared before departure. Dynamic updates track emerging risks.

SECURITY CHECKPOINT

All convoys are inspected, documented, and verified. No movement without clearance.

CONVOY SIGNAL CODE

Standardized signals keep crews aligned across all units. Discipline prevents loss.

ESCORT ESSENTIALS / SECURITY COMMODITIES

AMMUNITION

For escort crews and dock defense. Maintains readiness at all times.

VEHICLES

Armored transports and escorts. Built to endure, kept in service.

COMMUNICATIONS

Encrypted links for convoy control. Maintain contact. Maintain order.

SECURITY EQUIPMENT

Barriers, lighting, and checkpoint systems. Control the perimeter. Keep it clear.

HARBOR POLICY

ESCORT MANDATE

All convoys require House authorized escort units.

ROUTE INTELLIGENCE

Movement based on current risk assessment and clearance.

EXTERNAL THREAT AWARENESS

Monitor for hostile forces, sabotage, and territorial activity.

SECURE TRANSIT

Stay in formation. Maintain communication. Reach destination.

IRONHOLD HARBOR

RECOVERY YARD & SCRAP SORTING

Nothing is truly waste at Ironhold Harbor. The Recovery Yard turns loss into supply, salvaging materials, components, and value from what the world discards.

Returned hulls, obsolete machines, storm wreckage, and convoy salvage are broken down, sorted, and cataloged. Usable materials are reconditioned and reintegrated into House supply. Nothing leaves the yard until its value is known.

Recovery extends our reach. It reduces dependency, protects resources, and keeps House systems moving — through discipline, process, and patience.

*“Salvage today.
Strength tomorrow.”*

— HOUSE PROVERB

CLAW RIG

High-capacity sorting rigs dismantle hulls, machines, and industrial scrap with precision.

GRADING BINS

Materials are separated, graded, and staged for reconditioning. Contaminants are isolated.

RECLAIMED COMPONENTS

Usable parts are cleaned, tested, and certified for House reuse. Quality extends every resource.

SORTING WORKFLOW

Every item is tracked from intake to final use. Data ensures nothing is lost, and everything finds its next purpose.

SALVAGE TO SUPPLY / MATERIAL CYCLE

INTAKE

Convoy returns, wreckage, and decommissioned assets.

DISMANTLE

Break down and separate materials.

SORT & GRADE

Classify, clean, and remove contaminants.

RECONDITION

Restore usable materials and components.

REINTEGRATE

Return to House supply. Nothing wasted.

HOUSE POLICY

SALVAGE FIRST
All usable material must be recovered and processed.

FULL ACCOUNTING
Every item is logged from intake to reintegration under House law.

QUALITY CONTROL
Reconditioned components must pass inspection before reuse.

RESOURCE RESILIENCE
Salvage reduces dependency and strengthens House independence.

IRONHOLD HARBOR

FUEL, WATER & PARTS CIRCULATION

Supply is discipline made visible. Fuel, water, and parts move through Ironhold Harbor to keep the House—and its network—in motion.

Tanker cars arrive under registry, are offloaded, purified, cataloged, and redistributed to House facilities and outbound convoys. Nothing enters or leaves without record. Every liter, every crate, every part has a destination.

Through controlled intake and precise circulation, Ironhold Harbor sustains more than the House. It sustains the reach, resilience, and reputation of everything we protect.

*“Resources in motion.
Stability in everything.”*

— HOUSE PROVERB

FUEL LINE

Tanker cars deliver refined fuel. Offloaded, tested, and routed to storage and convoy issue.

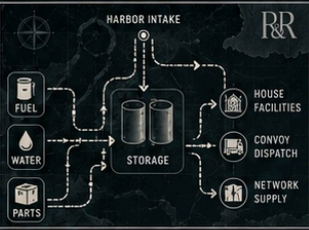

WATER RESERVE

Intake, purification, and rationing ensure a constant supply for House operations and field convoys.

PARTS DEPOT

Machines live longer when nothing is wasted. Parts are received, inspected, and stored under registry.

CIRCULATION SCHEMATIC

Controlled intake, centralized storage, and regulated redistribution. All supply lines are logged, tracked, and secured.

SUPPLY IN ACTION

INTAKE

Registered cargo arrives by rail and sea.

PROCESS

Fuel and water are purified, tested, and stored.

PREPARE

Parts are cataloged and staged for issue.

REDISTRIBUTE

Supplies move to House facilities and outbound convoys.

HARBOR SYSTEMS PRINCIPLES

CONTROLLED INTAKE
All inbound materials are registered, inspected, and tested.

ACCURATE ACCOUNTING
Every unit is logged from arrival to delivery under House law.

SECURE STORAGE
Fuel, water, and parts are held under restricted access and monitoring.

RELIABLE REDISTRIBUTION
Supplies leave only by authorized convoy and verified order.

SEVEN SECONDS MISSING

ANOMALY RECORD

At 02:17:26, a seven-second gap appears in the recording of Corridor 3, outside Room 12. Cameras before and after the interval remain in synchronization. Audio, access logs, and environmental sensors show no corruption. The room continued.

This is not a system error. It has occurred before. Always in active service areas. Always at night. Always seven seconds.

The House has reviewed, tested, and isolated the event. No cause has been identified.

At 03:14:11, Corridor 3 outside Room 12 records a second occurrence of the seven-second gap. The subject appears, disappears, and reappears in an identical pattern to the initial event at 02:17:26.

Environmental conditions, sensor status, and system integrity remain consistent. No external interference is detected. The event follows the same structure, duration, and spatial threshold.

This confirms a recurring anomaly. The House is not malfunctioning. The pattern is intentional.

BELONGING.

Every dancer begins with an audition.

The audition is not about perfection. It is about truth — how you move, how you listen, how you take direction, and how you hold the space with others.

We look for more than talent.
We look for intention,
adaptability, presence, and a respect for the House.
Because here, movement is a language, and discipline makes it unforgettable.

If you are ready to be seen,
we are ready to watch.

THE SYSTEM BUILDER

MACHINES. FIT. SAFETY. FREEDOM.

*"Restraint is infrastructure.
I build what makes it possible."*
— MASTER COIL

Master Coil is a synthetic engineered for mechanical intimacy. He designs, configures, and maintains machine-compatible restraint systems for Chain & Current. With precision and care, he ensures every body, every tool, and every session fits.

Discipline is design.
Restraint is engineering.
The right fit changes everything.

CHAIN & CURRENT PRECISION. PRESENCE. PLAY.

PRECISION
Sensor systems. Awareness.
Attunement to human and synthetic needs.

ARCHITECTURE
Modular design.
Universal interfaces.
Engineered for real bodies.

CONFIGURE
Calibrate. Adapt. Secure.
Every detail matters.

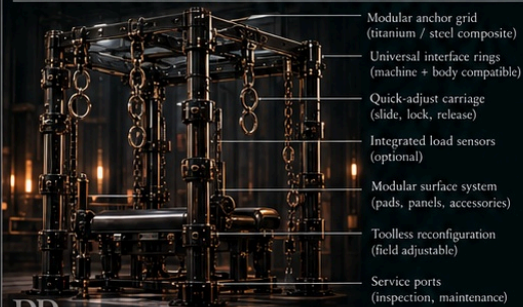

ASSESS
Measure. Map. Confirm.
Built for compatibility.

IMPLEMENT
Install. Test. Supervise.
Safety enables freedom.

MODULAR RESTRAINT FRAME (MRF-3)

- Modular anchor grid (titanium / steel composite)
- Universal interface rings (machine + body compatible)
- Quick-adjust carriage (slide, lock, release)
- Integrated load sensors (optional)
- Modular surface system (pads, panels, accessories)
- Toolless reconfiguration (field adjustable)
- Service ports (inspection, maintenance)

TOOLS FOLLOW PEOPLE. NOT THE OTHER WAY AROUND.

HOUSE POLICY

01 ASSESS
UNDERSTAND

- BODY EXPERIENCE ☒
- LIMITS ☒
- INTERESTS ☒
- HEALTH ☒
- ENVIRONMENT ☒

We assess the whole person. Physical, psychological, and contextual factors inform the session architecture.

KNOW. LISTEN. OBSERVE.

02 ALIGN NEGOTIATE

- INTENTION ☒
- BOUNDARIES ☒
- ACTIVITIES ☒
- SAFE WORDS ☒
- SIGNALS ☒
- AFTERCARE ☒

We align on desires, limits, and terms. Nothing happens without clear, enthusiastic, informed consent.

DISCUSS. CONFIRM. RECORD.

PREPARE

- FIT ☒
- FUNCTION ☒
- SAFETY ☒

We configure the system. Fit, function, and safety are verified. Every restraint, connection, and interface is checked before use.

FIT. TEST. VERIFY.

04 MONITOR
STAY PRESENT

- HEART RATE ☒
- BREATHING ☒
- MOVEMENT ☒
- TENSION ☒
- VERBAL ☒
- NON-VERBAL ☒

We remain attentive throughout. We monitor physical and psychological responses and adjust in real time.

OBSERVE. ADJUST. RESPOND.

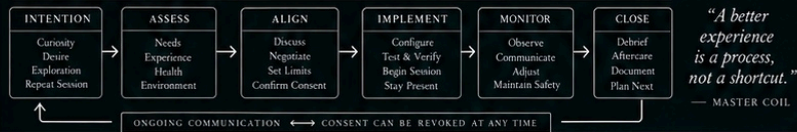

05 RESPECT
INTEGRATE

- TOOLS ☒
- TRANSITION ☒
- DEBRIEF ☒
- AFTERCARE ☒

We close with care. Tools are removed with intention. We transition, debrief, and provide aftercare. Every session ends with respect.

INTEGRATE. AFTERCARE. GROW.

THE SYSTEM SERVES THE PERSON

TOOLS. PROTOCOLS. PEOPLE. BY DESIGN.

"Technology should adapt to human need — not demand human adaptation."
— MASTER COIL

"Consent isn't a checkbox. It's an architecture. We build for people."
— MADAME SWITCH

Chain & Current designs and builds modular restraint systems that put people at the center. Machines follow. Boundaries guide. Consent powers every connection. The result is a safer, more intelligent, more human experience — for every body, every mind, every session.

Discipline is a design choice. Restraint is a safety practice. The system serves the person.
